

Built for Independence. Backed by Scale.

America's premier cardiology affiliate network, built for independent practices that want enterprise-level support without sacrificing ownership or autonomy.

Independent cardiology has never faced more pressure. Payer complexity, administrative burden, technology demands, and value-based care requirements are reshaping what it takes to run a thriving practice, and independent groups are carrying that weight alone. It doesn't have to be that way.

Introducing The Heart Network

The Heart Network partners with independent cardiology practices across America, not by acquiring them, but by extending the full infrastructure of a scaled national platform.

You keep ownership. We bring everything else.

Our affiliate model was built specifically for practices that have chosen independence and are ready to compete as if they had a national organization behind them.

Because now they do.

We're not asking you to sell. We're asking if you'd like to grow.

Independent cardiovascular groups across the United States who are not pursuing a PE transaction.

Health systems seeking novel physician alignment and ambulatory care strategies.

Employed cardiologists exploring alternatives to health system employment.
